Good Morning – and the cold weather issues continue...

You will not have hot water in your kitchen sink. We had to shut off the hot water feed as the pipes in the walls are frozen and we do not want pipes to burst. We have called numerous plumbers and they are all extremely busy – some working 24 hours straight – with issues. We are on the list but most likely not until earliest Monday.

There is not much that can be done as once pipes are thawed – they refreeze again within hours. It is just been too cold for too long.

We will keep you informed.
