Good Morning,

We have had another early morning heat pipe burst in building 2 due to the cold. The plumber is on his way. The heat has been shut off in building 2 until the pipe has been fixed.

Please DO NOT shut your heat off in your unit because you are too warm. A better solution is to either open the door in your 2nd bedroom or open the bedroom window.

If you open the slider it only cools the thermostat and calls for more heat. Totally shutting your heat off allows for standing water in your pipes which are freezing due to the extreme cold and then burst, causing thousands of dollars in damage to your unit and any units below you.

Thank you,
